Moving through significant shifts in life affords a rare opportunity to consider new options, to take stock of accomplishments, and to develop an exciting future. However, as with all transitions, this is often a time fraught with uncertainty, reluctance to let go of the familiar, and questioning of what comes next.

This unique program will help participants understand the strategies of a good transition through provocative and multidisciplinary activities. Participants will be introduced to and encouraged to develop personal tools to make transitions successfully and with assurance, leading to new and more satisfying outcomes.

Participants will learn to envision a broader range of possibilities and to examine the advantages and drawbacks of having a wide variety of choices. This will provide an opportunity to look at individual styles of dealing with change, paying attention to support mechanisms and obstacles to success, and how to stay in dialogue with others during the journey through transition.

The workshop will include individual and small group exercises, as well as large group presentations and discussions. Not only will the focus be on the work within the program, but attention will be paid to how participants can support the process of transitioning successfully in the future as they leave the workshop and re-enter life.

Benefits
Participants will:
• Re-examine old dreams or interests that have been put aside
• Explore their life experiences
• Reflect on the impact of others on their choices
• Incorporate goals for physical and psychological health in their exploration
• Learn how to release from past involvements and preoccupations
• Integrate new choices and directions with their significant others
• Explore their style of dealing with change
• Learn planning techniques that produce positive results

Participants
This program is for those facing a major transition, whether this change is planned by choice or imposed by circumstance. It is also recommended for coaches supporting the transition of others. The program is open to people from all walks of life. For those in a committed, intimate relationship, it is strongly urged that both partners attend.

This program may be taken for 19 ICF resource development hours.

“The Next Phase helped me clarify my goals for a new chapter in my life.... One of the most valuable insights I gained was that only in a dedicated space can business and community leaders be free to retreat from their roles and responsibilities. GISC fosters an atmosphere where we can set aside our roles as authorities to be authentic seekers and, with GISC’s help, quickly restore ourselves.”
